Top UFO Expert Says . . . Space Aliens Use 'Unearthly Apparatus' to Paralyze Humans

A strange paralysis strikes many people in close encounters with UFOs — and a top expert says it could only be caused by "an unearthly apparatus."

"Aliens must have some type of apparatus that can render a person incapable of certain things — moving their legs or talking but not other things like breathing or moving their heads," declared Dr. Richard Niemtzow, a Houston physician and leading UFO investigator.

"As a medical doctor I can say without contradiction that earthly medical science cannot do this. Only a very advanced civilization or an advanced technology beyond our present knowledge could do something like this."

Dr. Niemtzow, a member of the Houston-based UFO scientific study group VISIT, researched numerous UFO sightings around the world and found striking similarities in many of the accounts.

"Scores of people who have had close encounters with UFOs report they suffered a very selective paralysis that soon wears off without ill effects," he told The ENQUIRER.

"Their legs are completely immobilized — but they do not fall down. The mouth and throat are paralyzed and they cannot speak — but they can breathe. It is a very selective and a very calculated paralysis which is well defined throughout the history of UFOs. It seems to affect any nerve that is not vital to the person staying alive. We don't understand how it is done."

Dr. Niemtzow pointed out that fear could not explain the paralysis experienced by so many people during UFO encounters.

"Some people are afraid but they would have fallen down if fear had paralyzed them," he said. "Without exception the paralysis strikes both the brave and the fearful."

"There are other signs of this paralysis. When a person is paralyzed, animals and insects in the area fall silent — leaving one to consider whether the paralysis also affects them."

Dr. Niemtzow has also found that car motors, radios and other electrical systems frequently fail during these UFO encounters.

"This leads one to believe that the paralysis must be caused by some type of electrical or magnetic field or by some unknown energy field well beyond our present knowledge that affects the nerve cells as well as physical objects using electricity," he said.
